DALLES, July 4th, 1866.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Under the above heading "J. H. K." makes some very wild statements in your issue of July 3d. "J. H. K." says he was up to "Ringgold City" on the 24th of June. I imagine he did not stay there long and that he went no higher up the river, for he certainly is not well posted either in the geographical location or respective respective merits of the places he attempts to describe. The "two buildings" they up are not yet completed. The largest one is yet minus a roof, and I saw no material for finishing it. The other one, a very small, one story dwelling house, was removed from Columbus to its present site—not from White Bluffs as stated. I will not, at present, encroach upon your space by noticing all of "J. H. K.'s" erroneous statements, nor do I think it necessary, as every one at all acquainted with the respective locations, or who will consult the maps (Mullan's is the most correct) will be able to judge between us. The only possible way of getting a wagon from the so called city of Ringgold is to travel upwards of fifty miles south of east to the Mullan road at Cow Creek, only twenty four miles from Palouse landing. "J. H. K." seems to know nothing of the scarcity of water on their road. Yet there is a stretch so long that even Indians on horseback always choose the night time for traveling over it. The White Bluff roads have been improved until now they are perfectly satisfactory to freighters, and heavily loaded wagons are making regular trips to Colville and Pend Oreille Lake and teamsters are taking freight from this point for one half cent less than from any other place on either the Columbia or Snake river.

Herewith I send you some statements made by men who are well known as responsible freighters. They have been engaged in teaming from Umatilla and Dalles City to Boise for several years.

I think the more you agitate the matter, "J. H. K." the better for White Bluffs, for all that we want is to have the matter investigated, and we are perfectly satisfied to place the White Bluffs road in competition with any other, either as to wood, water, grass, distance, or the kind of ground over which it runs. White Bluffs is steadily gaining ground and as there is nothing but fir lumber there, it will be impossible ever to take down the buildings to move them to Ringgold without splitting the boards, so do not expect us.

FACTS.

WHITE BLUFFS, June 30, 1866.

To whom this may concern. This is to certify that the undersigned has traveled the road from White Bluffs to Hangman's creek near the intersection of this with the Mullan road on the route to Pend d'Oreille Lake from the above named place and found it a good road beyond his expectations—he being a teamster and having traveled a great many different routes in the upper country.

He further states that loaded teams can pass through without any difficulty, he having traveled it to the above named creek, with two heavily loaded ox teams, and says it is a better road than any which leads from the Dalles to the mining camps in Oregon or adjacent territories. He states these facts for the benefit of freighters or any other persons concerned in the best routes of travel.

H. M. McNARY.

WHITE BLUFFS, July 1st 1866.

To whom this may concern. The undersigned teamster having made the trip from White Bluffs to Colville and back in thirty days with ox teams wishes to state for the benefit of freighters and other persons concerned in the best routes of travel, that he is well satisfied with the road he has traveled, that the camping grounds are conveniently situated all along the route, with plenty of wood, water and good grass. There are no difficult hills to pull up. The road will compare favorably with any route leading to mining camps in Oregon, Washington or Idaho.

The Reconstruction Amendment to go through Congress—Loyal People will Indorse It.

[Forney's Correspondence with the Philadelphia Press.]

WASHINGTON, May 31.—You will see from the heavy and unbroken vote in the Senate that the expectation of united action among common friends has been wonderfully realized, and that there is a certainty of the success of the amendment before the people, and the consequent admission of the Southern Senators and Representatives at a day much earlier than the most sanguine had hoped for. You will not have failed to see that the opposition has been reduced by the addition to the majority of Senators Lane of Kansas, Morgan of New York, and General Van Winkle of West Virginia, leaving in the minority vote only three Republicans, Cowan, Doolittle and Norton. This fact is a high tribute to the care with which the new amendment was considered in Caucus, and to intrinsic equity. But there is a more precious philosophy in these insignificant votes in the Senate. They presage the happy reconciliation and restoration of the country and the almost instantaneous revival of business. And now may the prayers of good men be answered in the absence of all factious obstruction (for such will be continued opposition to the noble plan of the Congressional Committee) to this comprehensive measure of peace and justice. The vote in the House will be as marked as it was in the Senate—more marked, indeed; for there one Union vote will be thrown against the report. Before the people its fate can readily be predicted. How much headway do you think can be made against it with the South anxious to come back into Congress, and convinced that the road marked out by Congress is the only alternative? What sort of encouragement will the Copperheads have when they find that they cannot rely on President Johnson to help them in a war upon the plan of Congress? It is probable not much help can be expected from that functionary by the Union party; but it is a fact that he has at one time or another supported nearly all the features of the report, and I am assured to state that he is willing to give the new amendment his countenance if a very slight alteration is made. Indeed the only remaining ground upon which he can obstruct it is the monstrous doctrine of Seward that there is no necessity for amending the National Constitution, and that no change in that instrument should be made till the South is in Congress with all her former power, "as if no rebellion had ever occurred." From these reflections you can safely prognosticate the issue before the people. Congress will doubtless advise the Governors of the respective States to call their Legislatures together in extra session, and thus the work may be half done before the 4th of July next. Why not make that the day for the general ratification? The Representatives who, in running for re-election, will have to meet the brunt of the Copperhead batteries for supporting the glorious Article of Pacification, need have no fears. They have only to ask their advisers five plain questions, each being pertinent to the five leading sections of that Article.

1. Are you opposed to conferring civil rights upon all the citizens of the American Republic?
2. Are you in favor of allowing a South Carolina rebel two votes and a half, when the Union soldier throws but one?
3. Are you opposed to a decree that prevents the traitors from holding office in the United States?
4. Are you opposed to a clause that renders it impossible to repudiate our own national debt, and that makes it an inviolate covenant and an inviolable duty to pay the bounties and pensions of the Union soldiers?
5. Are you in favor of paying the rebel war debt?

These questions no Union man would hesitate to answer in the spirit that prompted the preparation of the new amendment of the national Constitution. And I am glad to add that I think the overwhelming majority of the Democratic party would respond with equal promptitude and patriotism. He must be a double dyed traitor, indeed, who could answer otherwise.

THE LAST SOLDIER OF THE REVOLUTION.—The story that the last survivor of the Revolution had died turns out to be untrue. The Albany (N. Y.) Journal says:

Samuel Downing, now the last of the Revolutionary soldiers in the State of New York, is residing near Edinburg, Saratoga county. He is a native of Newburyport, N. H., where he was born on November 30, 1762. He enlisted into the 2d New Hampshire Regiment, Col. Reed, in August 1778 for the war, and was present at the surrender of Burgoyne. His father and a brother both served through the war, as likewise did his wife's father and three of her brothers, making seven of the family who took part in the war of Independence. The portraits of both Lemuel Cook, just deceased, and of Samuel Downing, together with recent autographs of each of these venerable patriots, can be seen at the Bureau of Military Statistics.

FROM MONTANA

The following items are from the Montana Post of 14th ult.:

DISCOVERY OF A NEW LODE.

As the Fosters were sluicing down to the bedrock, clearing off the foundation for their mill at Summit, on the Mesler lode they came across the blue clay seams which always indicate the proximity of a lode. In this district, and pursuing their investigations, they found a ledge three feet and six inches in width and running on well. It is a most fortunate strike. [illegible] first discovered the "sign," but named the lode the [illegible], after the man who eventually dug down to the vein.

VALUABLE COAL DISCOVERIES.

We are glad to say that five different lodges of good coal have been discovered about twenty miles from this city on Jackass creek on the farther slope of the Mullan [illegible]. Samuel Hill, who was one of the discoverers of the Jewel House lode, is the fortunate finder. The settlers in the neighborhood, being fully aware of the importance of the discovery, have offered to join in the construction of a road to it. There is iron, lead and quartz in the neighborhood though none of it is yet developed. The discovery is nevertheless of immense value. There is also another fine lodge on Cedar creek about four miles farther from the city. The coal burns freely in the forge. The seam varies in thickness from eighteen inches to five feet, and one of the lodges is traceable in width about three-eighths of a mile. The others are large, but of less dimensions than that one.

THE MISSOURI CO.'S HYDRAULICS.

The hydraulic claims on the hill side across the gulch are doing better than could be expected during the unpropitious weather of the last week or ten days. The Missouri company cleaned up about half of their week's work, and received $800 as a return for the labor of two sets of three hands, each working alternately day and night.

LABORERS WANTED.

Six dollars a day is going a begging in Virginia City for laborers in the gulch. We should be obliged if a few hundred of the idlers around Helena would take their hands out of their pockets and come over here. Work and pay are plentiful here, we want more men.

HELENA MINES.

A letter from Helena says: Speaking of quartz, we may mention that Col. Keyser has recently had ten assays made on the New York extension of the Bly, or Croesus, or Cliff lead, as you choose to call it—five of the assays averaging $25 and five $75, to the ton. Considering the enormous width of the crevice and the ease with which the rock can be worked, this is considered quite encouraging.

NEW YORK GULCH.

A letter from New York gulch says:

While traveling around in this section I was forcibly reminded that a hunter always sees abundance of game when he has no gun along, by being told that the first dry gulch below Cave, known here by the name of Cooper's Gulch, is very rich, especially in its bars. From $10 to 25 have been taken out, and all the gravel which is about six feet deep prospects largely. But alas, no water can be had, and the distance to haul it is too great to make it profitable, at least it is so thought. In the drain ditch in Kingsberry Gulch, yesterday, they took out $7.50 to the pan, with a beautiful wash. Since penning the above, they struck from five to twelve dollars to the pan in the cider below Discovery, on No. 8 bar, and six below discovery. Judging from appearances, the gulches on the right bank of the Missouri river are just being opened, and will not, in the main, get in good working order before next season. Boulder is just drained and opens remarkably well. If it "continues in well doing," the prospects are bright.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

A train of ten wagons, belonging to S. Content, and laden with 500 sacks of flour, was discharged at Geo. Hyman's warehouse in the Stonewall building, a few days since. A lot of fine barley formed part of the consignment. On Wednesday and Thursday, Geo. H. Hanna & Co. received a lot of liquors and other merchandise from California, and six wagon loads of flour from Salt Lake.

Mr. George Glass, who resides on Wisconsin creek, while out hunting on the 11th inst., met with a singular accident. He had shot a mountain sheep, and on loading his gun laid it down on the side-hill, and started to get his game, when, by some means, the gun began to roll down the hill, and the hammer striking on a stone, the piece was discharged, the ball striking him in the calf of the leg.

We have often heard of "winter lingering in the lap of May," but the old gentleman is this year laboring under a special fit of laziness, and is now taking a nap in the arms of June. The weather is about as much like summer as a Scotch terrier is to a latch key.

STATE ITEMS.

Work is progressing finely, says the Reporter, on the new quartz mill at Dardanelles and workmen are busily engaged in taking out from the various ledges in readiness for its completion.

We learn that considerable excitement was created at Salem on the 4th, by a party of men who noisily refused to sit down to dinner with some others at a hotel, saying they would not eat with any d—d black abolitionists. They hurrahed for Jeff Davis and left, but not until they had succeeded in stirring up a hotter time than would have been comfortable for themselves had they stayed and fought it out on that line.

A special term of the Circuit Court for Yamhill county will be held next Monday, for the trial of two prisoners now in jail at Lafayette, one charged with bigamy and the other with grand larceny.

William Squires, started the Tillamook weekly mail service on Tuesday the 2d inst. The route begins on this side, at Lafayette.

The Courier makes a statement that during last week, Rev. L. A. McCarty was arraigned before a church tribunal on a charge of criminal intimacy with a female of supposed easy virtue.

Miscellaneous Items.

In the case of W. Law, contesting the constitutionality of the test oath as applied to lawyers in the United States Court at Savannah, Ga., Judge Erskine has decided that the Act of Congress approved January 24, 1865, so far as it is intended to apply to this case, is repugnant to the Constitution of the United States.

A general tobacco fair came off at Louisville, Ky., May 31st. All the tobacco growing States were represented. Each premium is over $1,500. The first premium for a hogshead of manufactured leaf was given to Carpenter & Sturgeon, of Hart county, Kentucky. It was sold for $550 per 100 pounds.

The efficiency of the English Railway Staff Corps is such, (according to Lord Elcho) that, in 30 hours, it could place in any given spot 150,000 troops, either volunteers or regulars, 60,000 horses and 100 guns. The corps could also collect together, in 24 hours, 300,000 navvies to throw up fortifications for the defense of any place.

The recent rains in Utah have been among the heaviest on record. Many of the farmers have abandoned the idea of raising corn.

The Salt Lake Vedette of June 18th, says:

The District of Utah having been broken up, Col. Carroll H. Potter, 6th U. S. Volunteers, started for Fort Sedgwick, in Colorado, Saturday, accompanied by Lieuts. Lowes and Roberts of his staff. Col. Potter came to Utah last fall, and during the winter was in command of the post of Camp Douglass, and upon the departure of General Connor to the East he succeeded him in command of the District of Utah. Yesterday, Capt. George F. Price, 2d California Cavalry, and late Adjutant General of the District of Utah, started for Leavenworth in charge of the District records. At Fort Leavenworth the Captain expects to be mustered out of the service, when he will return to Utah, after visiting New York, unless he concludes to accept the lieutenancy which has been offered him in the 5th U. S. Cavalry.

OREGON ELECTION.—The Stockton Independent in a long leader on the Oregon election says: "The Oregon election inspires us with hope such as we have not felt in many months. It is the first fingerboard whereon we read the sure directions homeward. It is the new starting point for the party of freedom, and every one of the majority returned for us is as good as a thousand. There have been bigger majorities, but seldom greater victories."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1866.

The Hudson's Bay Company's Claims Again

The Hudson's Bay Company are at work in the endeavor to substantiate the claims which they have brought against the United States for damages alleged to have been sustained by them in their business in Oregon through the interference of our people with the rights that were guaranteed to the Company by the treaty of 1846. About a year ago we made a statement of the amount of these claims, which, as we then showed and may as well repeat here, foots up the modest little sum of about $[illegible],000,000. To obtain from the United States an acknowledgment of the justness of this demand and the trifle in cash to cancel it, the Company is now taking "testimony" from their own witnesses—persons who are interested in the Company—and are making it appear, at least to their own satisfaction, that they have placed their demand for indemnification at figures ridiculously [illegible] low, and that under the agreement of July, 186[illegible], our Government cannot hesitate to award the whole sum claimed. We have before us a copy of the deposition of Mr. Dugald McTavish, now chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company at Montreal, and formerly clerk for the Company at Fort Vancouver. This deposition was evidently given after a careful study of the figures published by the Company as the amount of their claims. The original demand is set forth with precision, and the testimony sustaining it is in words and figures almost equally exact. For example, the Company claim for "Vancouver and its appurtenances" the nice sum of $851,666,69; Mr. McTavish, clerk and factor, thinks the establishment in 1846 was worth "from five to six hundred thousand dollars," and that the land owned by the Company, having a frontage of twenty five miles on the Columbia river, by ten miles in depth, in all about 160,000 acres, was worth then on an average of from two and a half to three dollars per acre." It is true that on this reckoning the value of the post would foot up larger than the sum which the Company now claims; but the purpose of the witness is to show the generosity of the former owners of the property in not asking more. It is difficult to perceive why the Company should have been so modest as to lay claim only to the area of land spoken of by their witness. The better and more profitable course would have been to fasten a claim on all the land up the river to the Cascades, down the river to Cape Disappointment, and laterally at least to the summit of Mount St. Helens. This, at "two and a half to three dollars an acre," could have been multiplied into a very pretty sum. A claim based on such an estimate would be quite as rational as the one which the company has preferred.

But this impartial witness, not satisfied with generals, comes to particulars. Says he: "With respect to the value of the land at Vancouver, I am clearly of opinion that had the Company had entire control to deal with it as their own, from the year 1846, and up to 1858, when I left there, taking the fort as a central point, the land above and below it to the extent of three square miles or 1,920 acres, with frontage on the Columbia river, could have easily been disposed of for $250 per acre." This estimate would make the value of the three square miles of land reach almost half a million of dollars. That sum of money would probably purchase the whole tract at this day, including the entire town of Vancouver, which has been built almost wholly since the year 1858. Again, the witness considers the "land on the lower plain, having frontage on the river for a distance of five miles, or 3,200 acres, as worth one hundred dollars per acre." This land, with all the improvements that have been made upon it since it was abandoned by the Company, might perhaps now bring ten dollars per acre, though we very greatly doubt whether it could be actually sold for five. Land quite as valuable either on account of its fertility or locality can be purchased in almost any part of Oregon or Washington Territory for the price last named. But the witness is not done yet. "Below the Lower Plain to the Catapoodle, a distance of probably ten miles, with a depth of two miles, or 12,800 acres, is worth twenty-five dollars per acre; going above the Fort Plain, and so on the commencement of the claim, two miles above the saw mill on the Columbia river, say a distance of six or seven miles, and back three miles, or about 13,500 acres, should be worth from ten to fifteen dollars per acre; the remainder of the claim is worth from one and one-half to three dollars per acre." In view of their peculiar manner of reckoning the value of land, it is unfortunate for the finances of Clarke county that the Hudson's Bay Company have been dispossessed of their claim; as otherwise they might now be paying taxes on it at their own valuation—a proceeding which would very soon enrich the treasury of the county even beyond the hopes of those who are most sanguine in the future prospects of Vancouver.

By this computation, the land alone of the Vancouver claim would be worth much more than a million of dollars! Its actual value at this time (and it is worth far more now than it ever was before) is probably not one-quarter of that great sum.

The remainder of the testimony of Mr. McTavish, clerk and factor, is of a piece with that which we have presented. Accurate and impartial testimony in the whole case is shortly to be taken here by Hon. W. C. Johnson, when it will appear what estimate unbiassed witnesses will put upon the value of the claim of the Hudson's Bay Company and Puget Sound Agricultural Company in Oregon and Washington Territory. We shall refer to this matter again.

COPPERHEAD LOYALTY.—The New York News lately published a poetic address to the rebel flag, in which occurs the following:

Gallant nation foiled by numbers,
Say not that your hopes are fled.
Keep that glorious flag that slumbers,
One day to avenge your dead.
Keep it widowed, sonless mothers,
Keep it sisters, mourning brothers;
Furl it with an iron will,
Furl it now, but keep it still.
Think not that it's work is done,
Keep it till your children take it,
Once again to hail and make it
All your sons have bled and fought for,
All their noble hearts have sought for;
Bled and fought for all alone.
All alone! aye, shame the story,
Millions here deplore the stain,
Shame, alas! for England's glory,
Freedom called, and called in vain.
Furl that banner sadly, slowly,
Furl it gently for 'tis holy,
Till that day—yes, furl it sadly,
Then once more unfold it gladly.

The News is one of the Democratic oracles—edited by Ben Wood. The above extract is not unlike in sentiment to the utterances of the Democracy everywhere during the rebellion, when there was not an election to contest shortly. It is not as disloyal as paragraphs we remember to have seen in the leading Democratic papers of this State—for instance, the Democrat, the Review, when O'Meara was its editor, the Jacksonville Intelligencer, the Portland Advertiser, etc.

Such utterances are well calculated to keep alive the spirit of rebellion, and we have no doubt that is their design. The Day Book publishes frequent appeals to the late rebels, inflammatory and insubordinate in language and anything but patriotic or decent in spirit. This is true in different degrees with almost every Democratic paper we meet with. Those who do not openly advise the careful nursing of the secession spirit, are filled with violent diatribes against the "radicals," "abolition hell hounds," etc., etc. Whether we are called by any one or all of those names, matters very little indeed to us; but the effect of them on the Southern mind is anything but calculated to inspire that "harmony and brotherly feeling" which copperheads affect so much to desire between North and South.

The Union party fought for Union and they desire a "more perfect Union" as soon as the late rebels manifest a disposition to have one, but if, at any time, they of the copperheads, or both together, shall conclude to raise "that glorious flag" of secession again, they will find their second attempt more fruitless than the first, for while the American people may readily forgive the first offence, they would grind into dust the actors in a second rebellion.

Miscellaneous Items

The total expenditures of the United States for the quarter ending March 31st, were $172,019,[illegible]. The total receipts were $2[illegible],511,641 [illegible]. The expenditures on account of the public debt were $81,[illegible],472 16.

The President has approved the Post Office Appropriation bill. The aggregate amount for inland service is $1[illegible],[illegible]79,[illegible]00. Besides this, $1,[illegible]00,000 is appropriated for the transportation of mails to Brazil, Japan, China, and by sea to California.

The report of the Secretary of the Treasury in regard to the number of clerks in his department, was furnished the House on the 23d. One clerk is mentioned who served in the rebel army, having been conscripted.

A dispatch dated New Orleans, January 11th, says: The ship Artesian, loaded for Boston, with 2,000 bales of cotton, was struck by lightning. Her cargo was partially destroyed by fire, and the vessel sunk. The estimated value of her cargo is $400,000.

It is reported at Nashville that the body of a noted guerrilla named Tom Marrow, a leading member of Harper's gang, has been found, riddled with bullets, by a road in the woods near Gallatin, Tenn. His horse was found galloping over the country. It is unknown who killed him.

John Park, the drunken mayor of Memphis, having been criticised severely by the Argus, of that city, called upon Editor Brower to select his friend. Mr. Brower responds that the mayor is a loafer, and scarcely approximates the dignity of contempt. At last accounts Park was solacing himself with generous libations of old rye.

The great flood on the Red and Mississippi rivers, did a world of damage. The details of the overflow of Alexandria are heart rending. The people were driven to rafts for protection, and an immense amount of property has been destroyed. No relief possible till the floods subside. Floods in Texas have overflowed and devastated all the bottoms, and the injury to the crops is extensive.

The people of Columbia, South Carolina, are uncertain whether Gen. Sherman or Wade Hampton burned their city. They held a meeting on the subject the other day, when resolutions denouncing Sherman as the "great incendiary" were voted down. Finally, a committee was appointed to take testimony and report. One of the speakers said he considered Sherman to be a great soldier, and that he, not Grant, conquered the Confederacy.

Stories of Southern destitution continue to meet us. We have already published accounts of the starving condition of the people in portions of Alabama. The prospects are that Mississippi and Louisiana papers will soon make revelations fully as heart rending. From all portions of those States come accounts of destructive floods, weather, cold, cut worm, cotton lice, etc., and it is predicted that there will be a famine in the South before another season. The planters neglected the planting of grain, hoping for an immense yield of cotton and big prices. It is too late now to remedy the evil. In many places planters have no money and are out of provisions, and merchants will give no more credit, though mortgages on coming crops are offered at remarkably low figures. The consequence must be that plantations will be abandoned unless money and supplies are obtained from the North, for without these they cannot be run.

WHAT THE CABINET SAID.—The Tribune thus paraphrases the late speeches of the members of the Cabinet in response to the serenaders:

The telegraph sent us the Cabinet speeches so late on Wednesday evening that we could not comment upon them. Perhaps our readers would like to know just what the Cabinet did say, therefore we reproduce each speech in a nutshell.

I. The President.—No speech. Much obliged. Support "particularly gratifying under existing circumstances." Go to the Secretaries.

II. The Secretary of State.—The old man not at "home." Off to Auburn. Yes, have seen his three columns, perhaps, if he were here——.

III. The Secretary of the Navy.—Thanks. Midnight talk should be discouraged in decent families. Will stand by the Administration and policy, and "rights of the States." Go home, and don't keep people out of their beds!

IV. The Secretary of War.—Speech written. Didn't speak before because Lincoln had been killed. Public duties executive. Has "avoided trenching"—the amiable man! When Johnson became President, the rebellion was considerably smashed. I first thought that there should be Negro Suffrage. After "calm and full discussion," my mind yielded to "adverse arguments" and "practical difficulties." The President has recognized the right of Congress to admit its members! I advised approval of Freedmen's Bureau bill—don't say whether I like the Civil Rights bill or not. Do not like the Reconstruction plan—third section especially. Neither "wisdom, necessity, nor justice" in disfranchising rebels—mark that "Practical difficulties" against enfranchising loyalists! Recognize "constitutional rights of legislative, judicial, executive" departments, entertaining "respect"—and much other euphuistic talk! Oh, Mr. Stanton!

V. The Secretary of the Treasury.—I go the whole figure, and "my deliberate judgment" sustains the President. Ballot-box will sustain him also. I believe in the people of the United States. The President holds no doubtful attitude! His policy is a good policy; where's there a better policy? Give us better policy, and we go for it, but if you don't, we will sink or swim with this one. [Hearty cheers.] Congress has been six months tinkering and cannot make a policy, so it can't. Not wise enough to amend the Constitution, for every third Congressman is a Constitutional tinker. [Tut! tut! Good words, good words! Mr. Secretary.] Why don't the Congressional Jupiter Tonans so amend the Constitution as to change representation? Yes, why? If Johnson didn't do as he ought to do, why was he not taken to task during the recess, and if the Union party does not do something better, its days are numbered. [Oh! oh!] Why not have spoken about finances, Mr. Secretary? Ne sutor ultra crepidam, Mr. Secretary, for you made a very unwise speech.

VI. The Postmaster-General.—Everything is lovely. The President is all right, Congress is all right, the country is all right, the Rebels are coming all right. Sorry that Congress and President cannot agree, for I need not tell you that the Union party saved the nation from armed rebellion. President and Congress are coming all right—not so far apart now as when Congress met. We will all be lovely once more—but it is very late, and more speech has been made than was intended, so good night, and come again!

VII. The Attorney-General.—Very sorry couldn't speak, excuse me.

VIII. The Secretary of the Interior.—As to the President's policy, the least said by me the better. But I don't distrust the Union party, nor betray it, nor make speeches to Copperheads, so stay away with your fiddles, for I'll not talk to you to night.

In the opinion of the Southern supporters of the President, the success of of his policy means the defeat of the party which carried the Presidential election in 1860 and 1864. Thus, The Jackson News and Mississippian (always virulent rebel) says:

"The Hon. W. L. Sharkey arrived in this city on Monday from Washington. Judge Sharkey brings cheering news from the President. He seems to have no doubt that the policy of the President will prevail ere long overwhelmingly. The National Intelligencer takes the same view, and in fact we see evidences everywhere of the crumbling of the capricious and despotic power which has ruled the country for the last five years. The weak and timid politicians who are alarmed at the extravagant boasting of the Radicals have done more to unnerve our people than the Radicals themselves. Let every voice be raised, and let those plotters against the prosperity of the Union know that they are verging on a terrible revolution which, if once inaugurated, will sweep them root and branch from the face of the earth. The integrity of the Government must be sustained at all hazards, and the true men in every section will rally if necessary to crush out a faction which has sought at once to aggrandize its leaders at the expense of the prosperity of the people and the integrity of the Constitution."

SIGNIFICANT.—Sangamon county, Illinois, never has gone Democratic, but the late election in Springfield in that County and State, the home of Lincoln, and where the Lincoln monument is being reared, lately went Democratic by an overwhelming majority. Straws have their weight.—Lafayette Courier.

If the author of the above paragraph had known what he was writing about he would not have committed this ignorant blunder. Sangamon county Illinois invariably gives a Democratic majority. Douglas had a majority there in 1860, and McClellan had a much larger majority in 1864. In 1862 the Democratic majority in Sangamon county was fully 1,000.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JULY 5.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Senate debated the Indian Appropriation Bill and rejected an amendment placing the Indian Bureau under the War Department. The Freedmen's Bureau bill has passed both Houses and is now in the hands of the President.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—Both Houses have agreed to the conference report on the army appropriation bill, which is therefore passed. The House debated the bill extending the time of the Pacific Railroad act, [illegible] to the Central Pacific Railroad company of California.

Monetary—New York Markets.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Transactions in Wall street are very light and without important changes in money. Gold [illegible].

Cotton is very dull and nominal at 3[illegible]c.

Flour is less active and heavy. Wheat is dull with a downward tendency. Corn is 1@1½c better.

Great Fire at Portland, Maine.

PORTLAND, Maine, July 5.—A fire occurred yesterday in J. B. Brown & Sons' sugar house on Commercial street, destroying a mile and a half long by a quarter of a mile wide. Half of the city is destroyed, and that half includes nearly all the business portion. All banks and newspaper offices, all jewelry, wholesale dry goods stores, several churches, telegraph offices and a majority of the business houses are destroyed.

Many buildings, perhaps fifty, were blown up to check the flames but the inhabitants could scarcely do more than flee with their families to the upper part of the city, saving such goods as they could carry. The Custom House being fire proof escaped, though it was greatly damaged. The splendid city and county building on Congress street, newly fire proof, was considered safe, and was filled full of furniture by neighboring residents, and then it was swept away with all its contents. The fire is still raging, below Cumberland street, ranging back to Westward, the wind having changed. Captain Henry Inman has telegraphed for 1,000 tents to accommodate homeless families.

Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Early this morning a fire broke out from the steamboat freight depot at [illegible] Slip, and in a short time the whole of the buildings were destroyed with the steamer Baltimore; also two boats loaded with freight. Loss, quarter of a million of dollars.

Barnwell Rhett Assassinated.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 4.—Barnwell Rhett, a distinguished citizen of this State, was shot yesterday while going to his plantation near Charleston. He received two loads from a double barrell shot gun. About twenty minutes after receiving the wound he fell from his horse and died. It is not known definitely who the murderer was, but it is supposed to be a negro who had expressed strong animosity against the family.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—The Eastern line is out of order beyond Laramie. No report from the East.

Chung Wong, the first Chinaman who has ever been executed in San Francisco, suffered the death penalty in the county jail at 1 o'clock this afternoon for the murder of his mistress, Sun Chayin, March 15th.

The Bachelder-Austin conspiracy case was continued in the Police Court to-day until Monday morning next for argument.

Col. Drum this morning received from the War Department at Washington the first official notification of the death of General Winfield Scott. The circular was dated May 30, and came by yesterday's steamer. After giving a brief sketch of the career of Gen. Scott, it closes with an order that guns be fired at each military post at intervals of 30 minutes from sunrise to 1 o'clock P. M. of the day succeeding the receipt of this order. The troops will be paraded at 10 A. M. and this order read to them, after which all labor for the day will cease and the flag be kept at half mast during the day. In accordance with the above order, half hourly guns will be fired between sunrise and 1 o'clock P. M. to-morrow from the Presidio, Fort Point, San Jose and Alcatraz.

A newly invented steam machine, intended to extinguish fires, exploded about 2 o'clock P. M. yesterday while cold water was being pumped into it, severely scalding Wm. F. Paul the inventor, who was experimenting with it at the time.

A gentleman had his leg broken on Car No. 2 of the Central Railroad Company, by the sudden starting of the car while he was standing on the platform, throwing him off his balance.

J. M. Eckfeldt, melter and refiner of the Branch Mint in this city, has, we learn, been appointed by Secretary McCulloch adversary Superintendent of the new Branch Mint at Carson City.

The following are the rates of passage by the opposition steamer America, which sailed on the 14th inst: 1st cabin, outside rooms, $140, first cabin, outside rooms forward $110, second cabin, $75.

Chas. H. Moore was discharged from his debts in the County Court to-day.

Information from San Blas via Acapulco says the Republicans had taken the city of Santiago, and are threatening San Blas and Sople.

Andrew McPhay who surrendered $6,000 of the money stolen from Collector Adams of Oregon, was released to-day on giving bail to the amount of only $500.

Wm. Banton, who shot John Cunningham on board the steamship Oriflamme, was required to give bail for $5,000 for his appearance before Court for trial.

The steamships Oriflamme and Montana left for Portland at 6 P. M.

The Markets.

The flour market is quiet. Superfine bf sks ꝑ 100lbs, $5@5 25; qr sks at $5 25@$5 50, extra bf sks, $5 25@5 50.

Wheat sales—163lbs, new, at $1 50.

Barley sales include 600 sks very choice feed at 85c, and 600 sks choice brewing at 90c per 100lbs.

Oats are a little better. Sales include 125 sks very choice at $1 40, and 300 sks extra choice at $1 [illegible]; also 150 sks inferior and dark at $1 35 ꝑ 100 lbs.

The potatoe market is a little firmer to-day.

Money Market—Mining Stocks.

Gold was variously reported in New York yesterday at 154, 153½ and 153, with few sales and weak. Sterling exchange, 109½@109¾, closing at 108.

The brokers here quote legal tenders at 70 buying and 70½@71 selling.

The Mining Stock Market has again taken the back track. From the morning board yesterday, Chollar Potosi declined $20; Ophir, 22 50; Belcher, 15, Overman [illegible]; Yellow Jacket, 7 50; Bullion, 3 50; Imperial alone shows an advance. No vessels arrived.

DESTRUCTION OF AMERICAN COMMERCE.—The Secretary of the New York Chamber of Commerce has prepared a complete record of all the ships destroyed by rebel privateers, with the value of vessel and cargo, the date of capture, the name of the privateer and many other items of interest. It is a nice little bill, containing many items for the consideration of John Bull. It may require solid argument to enforce the payment, but the day will come when the account will be settled.

The captured property is found to be of the value of $25,500,000, of which $20,000,000 worth were utterly destroyed. The rest was chiefly bonded. The number of piratical vessels engaged in this devastation was, viz: Steamers, 14, barks, 5; brigs, 1; schooners, 5; total, 25.

The number and classes of vessels destroyed were: Steamers, 4; ships, 61; barks, 74; brigs, 35; schooners, 61; total, 235; tonnage, 103,032.

The Alabama captured 2 steamers, 34 ships, 22 barks, 5 brigs, 6 schooners; value, including cargoes, $9,750,000.

The Florida captured 1 steamer, 10 ships, 10 barks, 8 brigs and 7 schooners. Those, with cargoes, were valued at $4,404,000.

The Shenandoah captured 10 ships, 25 barks, 1 brig and 2 schooners, valued, with cargoes, at $2,388,000.

Those ships were of English build and outfit, and the items are of particular interest, not the less so upon the eve of a great conflict in Europe, which, before it closes, will be likely to involve the great maritime powers, including, perhaps, England. The time may not be very remote when so just a demand will be presented with an emphasis that will command immediate attention.

THE MARYSVILLE EXPRESS.—The remaining one-third interest of this paper was sold June 26th, at $500. Neither of the two or one third sales touched the title or name of the paper, the subscription lists the book accounts or other indebtedness. That blank editorial space remained unfilled, June 27th.

IT NEEDS NO GHOST TO TELL us that if we don't take care of our teeth they will perish in our mouths, and in their decay impair the purity of the breath. With the knowledge that this catastrophe can be averted by the daily use of the healthful properties of Sozodont, who would be so perverse as not to use it?

"THOSE ARE SPLENDID!" "What are splendid?" "Why those ENAMELED CARD-PICTURES and exquisite SUN PEARLS which are now taken at ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL'S GALLERY, 89 First street. This is the only place in the city where the above beautiful specimens of the Photographic Art can be had. All other kinds of pictures taken as usual."

THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE!

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Portland have been since Dec. 17, 1864, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that JACOB MAYER leased the building of me Dec. 17, 1864, for a term of years at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE! making less than two thirds of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even now he now to comply with his contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such unmanly advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see how much it costs to have such tenants in such costly buildings as the one referred to above.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN, full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable, more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

INDIAN TRIBES OF THE NORTH WEST.—In a late number of the Pacific, published in San Francisco, Rev. George H. Atkinson of this city, editor of the "Oregon Department," furnishes some reminiscences of early days, among which is a reference to the Nez Perces Indians, from which we extract the following: "The Government has made treaties and granted large amounts of money to these Indians, but as yet they have received but little of it. Their school house, long promised, is not built. Their church, also, is unfinished. Their old long tried, esteemed and loved teacher is driven away, and evil men seem to combine to keep him away. Meanwhile, intemperance and its kindred vices are sweeping through the tribe, corrupting it in every direction. Wm. H. Gray, Esq., of Astoria who is writing the early history of Oregon in successive numbers of the Astoria Gazette, and who was himself an early associate of Dr. Whitman and Mr. Spaulding, has recorded several of these facts more at length than I have space to do. It is to be hoped, when they are all known, and when just men, who can rear the seats of power in our nation, understand them, there will be a heart to do justice both to Mr. Spaulding and to the Nez Perces tribe. On my visit to the Fort Lapwai, a long and well written letter from Lawyer, Head Chief, to President Lincoln, with a translation by Mr. Spaulding. But President Lincoln having been assassinated, the letter was forwarded to Mr. Johnson. Lawyer pleaded only for justice according to the provisions of the treaties which had been made by them." The Nez Perces Indians, as we are given to understand, and as history will show, boast that their hands were never imbued in the blood of the white man. On the opposite side what do we see with reference to the various and numerous other tribes. Besides being "treated" with by the Agents of our Government, and receiving annuities in the same manner and form as other Indians, they have robbed, murdered and scalped whites by the hundreds. The fact that the Nez Perces have always maintained a friendship for white people may be attributed chiefly to the circumstance that they were never controlled to any great extent by the Agents of the English, while the Cayuses, Snakes, Shoshones, Umpquas, Piutes, Blackfeet and Rogue River tribes were early seduced by the Hudson's Bay Company, and became poisoned against the "Boston" men (Americans), and would massacre them at any time, not harming the subjects of England ever, if they knew it. Much is being said now about the course being pursued by the settlers and miners towards the Indians of Idaho and Eastern Oregon generally. That it is folly to think of "treating" with these tribes we firmly believe, but that the Government should give the Nez Perces a just reward for their faithfulness is beyond a question.

THE "RIGHTS" OF A STEAMSHIP COMPANY.—An interesting action was in process of trial when the Orizaba sailed from San Francisco, to test the "right" of a steamship to run down a bark at sea. The case was that of the British bark Kent vs. the Oregon, California and Mexican Steamship Company. We quote from Messrs. McCraken, Merrill & Co's circular of June 29th, with reference to the action, which says: "The steamship Oregon, Capt. Dall, bound to the mouth of the Colorado river, reports in his memoranda, May 22, 2:50 A. M., off Catalina Island struck the British bark Kent, from Carmen Island, with salt for Portland, Oregon, and at 4:25 A. M. vessel sunk; Captain Staunton, lady, and crew, saved. This disaster was privately known here some days before the return of the steamer, but for what reason it was kept secret we know not. Since the arrival of Captain Staunton at this port he has instituted suit in the U. S. District Court on behalf of himself and Richard H. Nettleson, of London, owners of the aforesaid bark, against the steamship Oregon and her owners, to recover seventy thousand dollars damages for the destruction of their vessel, under the following circumstances, as stated in the complaint:

"On the 21st of May the bark Kent was engaged in navigating the high seas, and was engaged in making a voyage from Carmen Island, in the Gulf of California, to the port of Portland, Oregon, with a cargo of salt, and was staunch, manned and appointed in every respect to secure herself from the ordinary dangers of a sea voyage, but at about 2 o'clock, on the morning of the day before mentioned, while the bark was navigating the high seas of the Gulf of California, the steamer Oregon ran into and upon the said bark, with great force and violence, causing such damage that the bark sunk within an hour after the accident, carrying down the entire cargo, and barely giving the officers and crew of the bark time to escape from their vessel to the said steamer. The libellants further aver that at the time the collision took place, the weather was fine, the night starlight, and there was but little if any wind or sea, and that the said bark was becalmed or nearly so. She had, when the collision took place, a man at the helm, a proper lookout and watch on deck, and two lights set to warn approaching vessels of her position; and the libellants further allege that the collision was caused by the negligence, inattention, and want of proper care, skill and diligence, on the part of the steamship and those having charge of her. The libellants also aver that since the collision they have applied to Jesse Holladay, the agent and consignee of said steamer, and requested him to settle with them for the damages sustained, but he declares that there is any liability on the part of said steamship for any damages whatever. Therefore the Court is petitioned to award damages in the sum of seventy thousand dollars."

IN MEMORIAM.—The following tribute to Mr. Richard Hoyt, Sr., should have appeared in yesterday's paper. It is from the pen of one who was quite intimate with the old gentleman, and speaks for the community at large: "The sudden death of Richard Hoyt, Esq., on Sabbath afternoon, July 1st, after having attended the morning service at the Presbyterian Church, has sent a thrill of sorrow through many hearts in this city. We mourn that we shall no more see the kind face and take the hand of this aged and truly christian friend. He chose to distribute tracts, and thus to the last of life to serve the Saviour. We saw him going from shop to store, from wagon to wharf, on the street and on the steamboats, among old friends and among stranger immigrants, having a good word for all. His mind was also awake, and his heart was enlisted upon all the great subjects of national and religious interest. He read the current news and kept himself well informed. While he lingered among us he was one with us in every effort to promote the highest welfare of the people. He informed the writer that he and his wife were the first converts under the labors of Rev. Mr. Kirk, many years ago at Albany, New York. Their meetings were held in an old brewery, for want of a better place. There the church was formed which both first joined. He was happy to send word last Summer to Dr. Kirk, that he had continued to follow the precious Saviour. He was glad to hear cheering words from his former pastor. We learned to respect him as an affable gentleman; to esteem him for his usefulness, and to love him as a christian father."

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—DEADY JUSTICE.—Thursday, July 5th. William Pickering, subject of Great Britain, admitted to citizenship.....United States vs. Briggs et al. No. 2, judgment against the defendant for $28 45.....Corbin vs. Bark Eldridge. Suit in admiralty for pilotage, exception to the libel because it did not allege that the pilot showed the master his warrant. The Court delivered a written opinion in this case in support of the exception. The proceeding was under the pilot law of Washington Territory, which is peculiar in requiring the pilot to show his warrant to the master, when he tenders his services, whether the master require him or not. The Court also said that if the pilot was prevented from showing his warrant by the wrongful act of the master, that such conduct would excuse its production, but these circumstances must be alleged in the libel. Libellant had leave to amend on payment of $5 costs to the claimant......U. S. vs William Wilson—indictment for uttering forged checks. Defendant brought in on bench warrant, and stated that he had no counsel and was unable to employ counsel. The court appointed Lansing Stout as his counsel, and gave him until to-morrow morning to plead to the indictment.....The case of Mansfield vs The Oregon was argued by counsel. An opinion will be delivered in this case at the coming in of the court this morning at 10 o'clock.

LIQUOR LICENSES.—The new city law regulating the retail liquor business went into operation on Monday last. Several suits were entered against parties yesterday who have failed to comply with the Ordinance, and the cases were set for trial before Judge Hoffman next week. About forty sellers have filed the requisite bonds to obtain a license. How the moral workings of the law will operate is yet to be seen. Those caterers who have run music saloons and "pretty waiter girls" will be denied the liberty to sell liquor unless they withdraw the feminine institutions, but we understand some of them are concocting a plan after one adopted in New York city, to frustrate a similar law. In the great metropolis it has been enacted that the short skirted and low necked attendants of Bacchanalians must desist. That lager and crinoline must not enter together. But the Teutonic and Platonic proprietors straddled the difference by selling lager in one room without the women, and cigars and coffee in another room with women. For the furtherance of some such scheme a purse is in contemplation, as a retainer for some able attorney on the part of the women and the saloons of this city, we understand.

TANTALIZING.—There is nothing in these warm days more calculated to tease or torment a person than to be constantly presenting some good and place to view, exciting the desire to be there, but forever frustrating the expectations by keeping that place out of reach. The latest of such tantalizing effects is produced by reading Godey for July. That magazine says rather sentimentally about insects: "Think what it must be to lodge in a lilly! Imagine a palace of ivory or pearl, with pillars of silver, and capitals of gold, all exhaling such a perfume as never arose from human censer! Fancy, again, the fun of tucking yourself up for the night in the folds of a rose, rocked to sleep by the gentle sighs of a Summer's air, and nothing to do when you wake but to wash yourself in a dew drop!" Now, Mr. Godey, what do you think by tantalizing the human family who live in a region with the thermometer at 92° in the shade by so illustrating the jovial life of an insect? Would you have us all sighing for a change of the situation? Who would not be an insect with the hope of such attainable pleasure? "I would I were a bug."

"COMPETITION THE LIFE OF TRADE."—The axiom that "opposition is the life of trade" was exemplified on Front street yesterday. Two rival saloons were the subject of the illustration. In front of one of these saloons was a noisy, drunken fellow who had been forcibly ejected from the premises, which is ordinarily a quiet place. The proprietor of the next saloon above, which obtains the title of "opposition" on account of a lack of business principle, kindly "took the fellow in," and by sympathizing with him in his troubles, probably prevailed upon him to spend what remaining spare cash he had about his person.

FIRE IN THE WOODS.—Yesterday the annual fires in the woods east of this city commenced. Heavy, black clouds of smoke puffed up for the greater part of the afternoon, increasing toward night.

RISING AGAIN.—The river has been rising again for three days past, at this city, but very slowly, however.

HOFFMAN & CO.—We invite the attention of the trade to Messrs. Hoffman & Co's advertisement in our columns to-day. This firm are among the largest engaged in the importation and jobbing of fancy goods on the Pacific coast. On a recent visit to Oregon one of the gentlemen connected with the establishment, saw the importance of obtaining the trade of this region, and they have decided upon making it an advantage to our merchants to send their orders to them. We understand they are very liberal gentlemen, and recommend them to the business community of Oregon.

CAPTURED A BEAR.—While the steamer was returning from the Cascades yesterday, a large black bear was discovered swimming the river. The steamer was brought to and an attempt made to capture him alive, but this beast [illegible] Mr. Purser Ingalls put an end to the "irrepressible conflict" by shooting him. The carcass was then hoisted on board and found to be enormously large, weighing, it is estimated, nearly eight hundred pounds.

GODEY FOR JULY.—Through inadvertency we yesterday failed to return thanks to that enterprising news dealer, Mr. Charles Barrett, for valuable favors. Among the latest dates placed upon our table by Mr. Barrett we find Godey for July 1866, a very interesting number, and the Nation of May 31st. Barrett is usually up to time, and if mention is not properly made of it he is not the party at fault.

THE NEW LOCOMOTIVE.—We learn from parties who visited the Cascades on Wednesday last, that the new and splendid locomotive S. G. Reed made her first trip over the Railroad on that day, performing the feat in a most satisfactory manner, under charge of Engineer Sutton. She is now making regular trips daily. The mate of this machine, the J. S. Ruckel, of the Dalles and Celilo Railroad, will be running in a few days.

GENERAL JOSEPH HOOKER.—A private letter, dated New York, May 28th, says that General Joseph Hooker has been suffering for some time with a serious illness, and his life has been almost despaired of. At the last accounts he was in a condition to be occasionally out of doors, leaning on the arm of an attendant and walking with great exertion. Only the greatest care and prudence in treatment will be likely to restore him.

OREGON TIMBER FOR SHIP BUILDING.—The timber of ships built in Oregon proves its quality and that used for masts and spars is superior to the "sticks" of almost any other country. The main-mast of the bark Jane A. Falkenburg has but one knot or blemish in it that can be seen, and that one is very small. This mast was put in during the last trip, at San Francisco, and was cut in Oregon expressly for that object.

THE CHICO-IDAHO ROUTE.—A private letter from a well informed business man of Owyhee, dated June 27th, says an express has advertised to leave for San Francisco over the Chico route, to go through in six days. He was pleased to term it "a bigger lick than Mullan's." Teams on that route were making as good time as when it went earlier in the season on bounties offered by interested parties.

ABOUT TO LEAVE US.—Colonel English, who has been with us for several years past, has received orders to report to his regiment in New Mexico. He will leave Portland by the Steamship Orizaba on Sunday morning, and while we shall regret his departure from this department, we trust he and his family may cast their lot in no less pleasant places.

TURN VEREIN.—It has been a source of regret that we had no public gymnasium in this city, but we understand that the Turn Verein Association have voted that any person by paying a nominal fee per quarter, may become entitled to all the benefits of their popular resort on First street.

RUNAWAY.—The horse attached to the coffee and spice wagon of Mr Jones ran away on Yamhill street last evening, precipitating Mr. Jones' boy out of the wagon down on to the street, in which position he remained until the horse was stopped after running the distance of about a block.

CHURCH SERVICES.—Rev. James Wylie, of San Jose, will preach at the Presbyterian Church in this city to-morrow morning and evening, at the usual hours.

Rev. D. Rutledge will fill the pulpit of the M. E. Church, at the morning service.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Rev. D. Rutledge will preach in the M. E. Church of this city Sabbath morning next at 10½ o'clock. Rev. A. R. Elder, of Olympia, W. T., will preach in the evening.

CHURCH NOTICE.—Services at Trinity Church to-morrow (Sunday) morning at 10½ o'clock, Rev. John Sellwood officiating.

IRON.—Telegraphic advices report an advance of one cent per pound on iron in San Francisco. We presume a corresponding advance will take place here.

FLOWING STREAMS OF PETROLEUM STRUCK AT LAST IN CALIFORNIA.—An important event in the progress of our State is the cutting of several tunnels that yield flowing streams of petroleum near San Buenaventura, giving reason to presume that numerous or numberless similar streams may be obtained by other tunnels. It was confidently asserted that California contains no petroleum, and afterwards that such petroleum as there might be could only be obtained by pumping and in small quantities. These assertions were for a long not disproved, but a number of persons, notwithstanding every discouragement, continued their explorations, expending a total of probably a million dollars. It is said that $130,000 were spent on the Ojai rancho alone. Only four miles from that rancho is the land of the Stanford Oil Works, where several tunnels have been cut into the oil-bearing shale, and from every tunnel a steady stream of oil is obtained—one tunnel yielding more than 600 gallons daily. The higher the tunnel, the thicker the consistency is the petroleum, and the less the proportion of valuable oil; but beyond a certain depth the workmen are troubled very much by gas, and the petroleum is mixed with water. One tunnel produced petroleum containing 80 per cent. of oil, while the petroleum obtained from an older tunnel, 24 feet higher up, scarcely contained half so much oil. In these tunnels the petroleum wells up from the bottom, yielding in the deepest tunnel eight gallons per day for each linear foot of the tunnel in the oil-bearing rock, which extends for miles. This rock, a sandy shale, stands at an angle of about 45 degrees to the horizon. In the Stanford rancho, the main tunnel is 1,200 feet above the sea, and runs into a hill, the summit of which may have an elevation of 2,200 feet. It is the theory of Mr. S. Moss, the author of the tunnel project that the oblique direction and loose texture of the petroleum shale in California will prevent the oil from flowing out of any well. In his opinion, the petroleum, as it approaches the surface, becomes mixed with the sulphur, iron and salt found in the earth and rock, and these, with earth materials furnish the brea, or asphaltum, which oozes up out of the ground at many places along the coast. Several thousand barrels of the San Buenaventura oil have already reached San Francisco, and if the supply is as large and permanent as persons who have been on the ground imagine, it will not be long before California kerosene will supply all our home demand, and crowd the kerosene of Pennsylvania in foreign markets.—Alta Californian June 27th.

NITRO GLYCERINE.—S. Ely, living in Marquette, (Mich.), dissents from the assertion of Nobel, that nitro glycerine will not explode under a temperature of less than three hundred and twenty degrees. After remarking that he had prepared some of this chemical for blasting, he adds:

"The first I knew I had a tremendous explosion in my office. There was not enough of it to take the roof off, but the contents of the bottle were scattered over every square foot of the wall and ceiling. I made a second trial, with a similar success, except that the explosion took place out of doors. The practical difficulty in the use of this compound seems to be that it can only be prepared at a very low temperature, and instantly and violently explodes with any increase of temperature."

PRUSSIA AND ITALY.—A Vienna despatch of May 19th says: "The following are stated to be the most salient points of the treaty of alliance between Prussia and Italy: In the event of either of those Powers being attacked by Austria the other would consider the aggression as a casus belli, and they would jointly operate against the Austrians, neither being at liberty to make peace without the consent of each other. Should Prussia, on the other hand, be provoked by Austria to a declaration of war, Italy would take part in the conflict as the ally of Prussia. The two contracting powers bind themselves to form no alliance with any other nation unless by mutual consent.

"It is further alleged that the treaty is to continue in force till the end of the present year."

Mr. Allen, of Marion county, this year sheared a buck fifteen months old, obtaining a fleece of eighteen pounds. Mr T. L. Davidson obtained from one Spanish Merino buck, seventeen and a half pounds, and from another sixteen pounds.—So says the Agriculturist.

A FAVORABLE NOTORIETY.—The good reputation and extended use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches" for Coughs, Colds and Throat Diseases has caused the Troches to be extensively imitated. Obtain only the genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches," and do not be influenced by those who make more profit by selling worthless imitations.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 621 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the Interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH—"But how?" you ask,
We answer, 'tis an easy task,
Strengthen the STOMACH, and soothe
The NERVES, the servants of the brain;
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ old, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for sole
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind:
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from natural or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mould,
To young and middle-aged, and old:
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

A Record of Treason.

The first volume of Benson J. Lossing's History of the Civil War in America has just been issued. We make the following extracts:

MR. LINCOLN'S OWN ACCOUNT OF HIS TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

When in Washington City, early in December, 1864, the writer called on the President, with Isaac N. Arnold, member of Congress from Chicago, and Mr. Lincoln's most trusted personal friend. We found him alone in his room where the Cabinet meetings are held, (in the White House), whose windows overlook the Potomac and the Washington Monument. At the request of the writer the President related the circumstances of his clandestine journey between Philadelphia and Washington. The narrative is here given substantially in his own words, as follows:

I arrived at Philadelphia on the 21st. I agreed to stop over night, and on the following morning hoist the flag over Independence Hall. In the evening there was a great crowd where I received my friends at the Continental Hotel. Mr. Judd, a warm personal friend from Chicago, sent for me to come to his room. I went, and found there Mr. Pinkerton, a skillful detective, also from Chicago, who had been employed for some days in Baltimore, watching or searching for suspicious persons there. Pinkerton informed me that a plan had been laid for my assassination, the exact time when I expected to go through Baltimore being publicly known. He was well informed as to the plan, but did not know that the conspirators would have pluck enough to execute it. He urged me to go right through with him to Washington that night. I didn't like that. I had made engagements to visit Harrisburg and go from there to Baltimore, and I resolved to do so. I could not believe that there was a plot to murder me. I made arrangements, however, with Mr. Judd for my return to Philadelphia the next night if I should be convinced that there was danger in going through Baltimore. I told him that if I should meet at Harrisburg, as I had at other places, a delegation to go with me to the next place, (then Baltimore,) I should feel safe, and go on.

When I was making my way back to my room, through crows of people, I met Frederick W. Seward. We went together to my room, when he told me that he had been sent, at the instance of his father and Gen. Scott, to inform me that their detectives in Baltimore had discovered a plot there to assassinate me. They knew nothing of Pinkerton's movements. I now believed such a plot to be in existence.

The next morning I raised the flag over Independence Hall, and then went on to Harrisburg with Mr. Sumner, Major (now General) Hunter, Mr. Judd, Mr. Lamon, and others. There I met the Legislature and people, dined, and waited until the time appointed for me to leave. In the meantime, Mr. Judd had so secured the telegraph that no communication could pass to Baltimore and give the conspirators knowledge of a change in my plans.

In New York some friends had given me a new beaver hat in a box, and in it had placed a soft wool hat. I had never worn one of the latter in my life. I had this box in my room. Having informed a very few friends of the secret of my new movements, and the cause, I put on an old overcoat that I had with me, and putting the soft hat in my pocket, I walked out of the house at a backdoor, bareheaded, without exciting any special curiosity. Then I put on the soft hat and joined my friends without being recognized by strangers, for I was not the same man. Sumner and Hunter wished to accompany me. I said no; you are known, and your presence might betray me. I will only take Lamon (now marshal of this district,) whom nobody knew, and Mr. Judd. Sumner and Hunter felt hurt.

We went back to Philadelphia, and found a message there from Pinkerton (who had returned to Baltimore,) that the conspirators had held their final meeting that evening, and it was doubtful whether they had the nerve to attempt the execution of their purpose. I went on, however, as the arrangements had been made in a special train. We were a long time in the station at Baltimore. I heard people talking around me, but no one particularly observed me. At an early hour on a rainy morning, at about the time I was expected to leave Harrisburg, I arrived in Washington.

A PLOT TO SEIZE WASHINGTON CITY.

There is ample evidence that the seizure of Washington City, the government buildings, and the archives of the nation, was an original and capital feature in the plan of the conspirators; and their assertions, after they were foiled in this, that they sought only "independence," and that all they asked was "to be let alone," was the most transparent hypocrisy. They aimed at revolution first, and disunion afterwards. They had as we now, they believed, that the President would not interfere with their measures. Should Congress pass a force bill, he was pledged by the declarations of his annual message to withhold his signature from it; and most of them were satisfied that they might during the next seventy days establish their "Southern Confederacy," and secure to it the possession of the capital, without governmental interposition. Yet all were not satisfied. Some vigilant South Carolina spies in Washington would not trust the President. One of them, signing only the name of "Charles," in a letter to Rhett, the editor of the Charleston Mercury, said: "I know all that has been done here, but depend upon nothing that Mr. Buchanan promises. He will cheat us unless we are too quick for him." He then urged the seizure of the forts, Sumter particularly, without a moment's delay. Neither would the conspirators fully trust each other. William H. Trescott, already mentioned, a South Carolinian, and then Assistant Secretary of State, and who for years had been conspiring against the government, was thought to be tricky. The writer just quoted said: "Father, let me warn you of the danger of Governor Pickens making Trescott his channel of communication with the President, for the latter will be informed of everything that transpires, and that to our injury. Tell Governor Pickens this at once, before matters go further." And the elder Rhett commenced a letter to his son, of the Charleston Mercury, by saying: "Jefferson Davis is not only a dishonest man, but a liar!" These politicians seem to have had a correct appreciation of each other's true character.

THE TREASON IN BUCHANAN'S CABINET.

Howell Cobb of Georgia, Buchanan's Secretary of the Treasury, seems to have been in the plot against the Union even before Mr. Lincoln was elected. So early as the first of November, 1860, Trescott, the Assistant Secretary of State, wrote to the editor of the Charleston Mercury as follows:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1, 1860.

DEAR RHETT—I received your letter this morning. As to my view or opinions of the Administration, I can of course, say nothing. As to Mr. Cobb's views, he is willing that I should communicate them to you, in order that they may aid you in forming your own judgment; but you will understand that this is confidential—that is, neither Mr. Cobb nor myself must be quoted as the source of your information. I will not dwell on this, as you will, on a moment's reflection, see the embarrassment which might be produced by any authorized statement of his opinions. I will only add by way of preface, that after the very fullest and freest conversations with him, I feel sure of his earnestness, singleness of purpose and resolution in the whole matter.

Mr. Cobb believes that the time is come for resistance, that upon the election of Lincoln, Georgia ought to secede from the Union, and that she will do so. That Georgia and every other State should, as far as secession, act for herself, resuming her delegated powers, and thus put herself in position to consult with other sovereign States who take the same ground. After the secession is effected then will be the time to consult. But he is of opinion most strongly, that whatever action is resolved on should be consummated on the 4th of March, not before. That while the action determined on should be decisive and irrevocable, its initial point should be the 4th of March. He is opposed to any Southern Convention merely for the purpose of consultation. If a Southern convention is held, it must be of delegates empowered to act whose action is at once binding on the States they represent.

But he desires me to impress upon you his conviction, that any attempt to precipitate the actual issue upon this Administration will be most mischievous—calculated to reduce differences of opinion and destroy unanimity. He thinks it of great importance that the cotton crop should go forward at once and that the money should be in the hands of the people, that the cry of popular distress shall not be heard at the outset of this movement.

My own opinion is, that it would be well to have a discreet man one who knows the value of silence, who can listen wisely, present at the meeting at Milledgeville at the meeting of the State Legislature, as there will be there an outside gathering of the very ablest men of that State.

And the next point, that you should, at the earliest possible day of the session of your own Legislature, elect a man as Governor whose name and character will conciliate as well as give confidence to all the men of the State. If we do not, I really think this half the battle—a man upon whose temper the State can rely.

I say nothing about a convention as I understand, on all hands, that that is a fixed fact and I have not troubled myself to answering your questions. Let me much obliged to you if you will write me fully and fully from Columbia. It is an advantage to write you, with the constant interruption of the office, and as you want Cobb's opinion, not mine, I send this to you.

Yours,

W. H. T.

"The original of the above letter," writes Mr. Lossing, "is in my possession."

Proclamation by the President of the United States.

WHEREAS, It has become known to me that certain evil disposed persons have, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, begun and set on foot, and have provided and prepared, and are still engaged in providing and preparing means for such a military expedition and enterprise, which expedition and enterprise is to be carried on from the territory and jurisdiction of the United States against the colonies, district and people of British North America, within the dominions of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, with which said colonies, districts and people and kingdom the United States is at peace; and whereas, the proceedings aforesaid constitute a high misdemeanor, forbidden by the laws of the United States as well as by the laws of nations—

Now, therefore, for the purpose of preventing the carrying on of the unlawful expedition and enterprise aforesaid, from the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, and to maintain the peace as well as the national honor, and to enforce obedience and respect to the laws of the United States, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do admonish and warn all good citizens of the United States against taking part, or in any wise aiding, countenancing or abetting said unlawful proceedings; and I do exhort all Judges, Magistrates, Marshals and officers in the service of the United States, to employ all their lawful authority and power to prevent and defeat the aforesaid unlawful proceedings, and to arrest and bring to justice all persons who may be engaged therein, and in pursuance to the Act of Congress in such cases made and provided. I do furthermore authorize and empower Major General G. G. Meade, Commander of the Military Division of the Atlantic, to employ the land and naval forces of the United States and the militia thereof, and to arrest and prevent the setting on foot and carrying on the expedition and enterprise aforesaid.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 6th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1866, and of the independence of the United States the ninetieth.

By the President ANDREW JOHNSON.
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

HERO WORSHIP IN DIXIE.—There is nothing which at first strikes a traveler so strongly, and impresses him with such a sensation of uneasiness as the constant evidence of the love which the Southern people feel for their lost cause and its leaders. It amounts to absolute enthusiasm. Every window is filled with pictures of what they call "our Generals." Most prominent among which are those of Stonewall Jackson and Lee. Jeff. Davis is everywhere. No Union Generals are to be seen. Newspapers are in the habit of containing pictures of such a sure not kept on sale at the news depots. I have not seen a single copy of Harper's Weekly in Richmond. I saw in one place a newspaper cut of Gen. Grant and his child, but the General looked very lonely and quite cut off from his base. I saw the interior of three negro houses, the doors being open as I passed. From the wall in each house I met the benignant countenance of the true Moses of the colored race, Abraham Lincoln. There in the hovel of the poor and oppressed black man, was built up the altar to the man who "with charity to all, with malice towards none" had carried out the work which God had given him to do. The little cheap fifty-cent lithographs of Lincoln, suspended in the negro hovel, impressed me more than anything I saw in Richmond. Like the altar to the Virgin in the houses of the poor Catholics in Mexico, it appeared to express the religious devotion and sentiment of an entire nation. In each case, as if to propitiate the evil spirits, on the opposite side of the room hung the picture of Stonewall Jackson. It was so evidently a bribe for permission to have their hearts' idol there, that I smiled at the little device.—Richmond Letter.

JEFF. DAVIS' TRIAL POSTPONED.—A Richmond dispatch of June 6th says:

There was quite a large attendance in the Court-room to-day. Reed, Brady and Brown, counsel for Davis, were present. Hennessy, Assistant District Attorney, moved the postponement of the trial of Jefferson Davis till the first Tuesday of October, which motion was granted by Judge Underwood. The Court adjourned to that day.

Among the reasons given by Hennessy for making his motion to postpone the trial of Jeff. to-day were, Davis is not now and never was in the custody of this Court, but is held by the United States Government as a State Prisoner, and if he was in the custody of this Court, the Attorney General could not now come here and try the case, and Davis is in delicate health, and it would be a cruelty, in this hot and unhealthy season, to subject him to a protracted trial.

Brady, one of the counsel for Davis, said the reason why his client was not in the custody of this Court was that no copy of the indictment had been served upon him, nor any list of witnesses, nor any other act done as required by the statute. Still he was anxious for a speedy trial. If it is hot here, it was worse in Fortress Monroe.

Judge Underwood said Chief Justice Chase, who was to preside on his trial, had named the first Tuesday in October, when it would be the most convenient for him, and the Attorney General had indicated that he could not now give the case that attention which its importance demanded. The Court was then adjourned till the first Tuesday in October next.

HYPOCRITES.—The Chicago Tribune makes the following pertinent remarks:

The Copperheads are deeply in love with Johnson's plan of reconstruction. They all declare that it is identical with the plan marked out by Mr. Lincoln. Did the Copperheads, at the time Mr. Lincoln proposed his plan, support it? No, nothing of the kind. Every Copperhead in the United States denounced it as a usurpation, as a subversion of the principles of the Constitution, as undemocratic in the extreme. The Chicago platform denounced "the administrative usurpation of the extraordinary powers not granted in the Constitution"—referring to Mr. Lincoln's plan of restoring civil governments in Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana. It was not until after one of their comrades had murdered him, and his successor had perverted Mr. Lincoln's plan of reconstruction into a scheme for restoring rebels to place and power, that they began to admire it and praise it. But it is the counterfeit of Mr. Lincoln's plan which they worship, and not the plan itself. It is the Johnson "policy of making loyalty odious and treason respectable which fills their souls with admiration and affection.

SOUTH CAROLINA CHIVALRY ON THE RAMPAGE.—Lewis, a Methodist and Presiding Elder of the Charleston (S. C.) district, went out to Barnwell district, and preached there to five hundred persons recently. He baptised eighty-four persons and administered the sacrament to two hundred. The next day comes to him a crowd of Confederate rioters, and among them W. Gilmore Simms, Jr. "Are you the d—d Yankee preacher who harangued the niggers here yesterday?" quoth Simms. "Cut his throat," says another benevolent white man. "Make mince meat of him," cries another. "Show me your authority for preaching the gospel, you d—d Yankee!" exclaims another ardent admirer of ecclesiastical order and discipline. At this point, Lewis managed to get into a car and to escape to Charleston, being reserved, perhaps, for future martyrdom. South Carolina representatives should be admitted without delay.

[illegible] NASBY.—The President's recent charge against Sumner, Stevens, &c. of instigating his assassination, reminds one of Mr. Nasby's unfortunate blunder at Washington, as related by himself:

Goin into Willard's I called for a gin, which the gentlemanly and urbane barkeeper set afore me and I drank. "Put it down with the rest, my man," sez I, with an impressive wave of the hand.

"Your name," sez he.

Assumin a intellectual look, I retorted: "Do you know Charles Sumner?"

Here I erred. If, [illegible] ambition of [illegible] self. Had I said Saulsbury, it might have answered, but to give Sumner's name for a drink of gin was a proof of lunacy, for which I [illegible]. I was ignominiously kicked into the street.

TRIAL OF JEFF. DAVIS.—The Pittsburg Leader is heartily sick of contemplating the horizonless sea of drivel that ebbs and flows about the question of trying Jeff. Davis. It says:

Stop this wretched humbug—this trifling with the public sense of justice—to the principles of right and wrong. We appeal to Mr. Johnson to organize a Military Commission, with orders to bring in a verdict of guilty, and thereupon string Davis up twenty-four hours afterward, or pardon him at once and let him free. There is no middle ground, and the way which this [illegible] other simply palter with the public judgment, and the [illegible] the plainest dictates of public policy.

PACIFIC COAST MINING PRODUCT.—Mr. Swain, Superintendent of the Mint at San Francisco, states that the product of the mines of the Pacific coast, including Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory, was, in 1861, $43,391,000; in 1862, $49,970,000; in 1863, $52,500,000; and in 1864 the amount will be found to be about $64,150,000. The yield of the California mines last year was about $45,000,000. Twenty millions and a quarter were coined in the Mint at San Francisco. Often a mass of gold worth $75,000 is melted in a single retort.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, July 6, 1866.

Business for the period passing in review has been nominally the same. In a financial point as previously reported. Bullion has arrived more freely from the mining regions than for any corresponding period the present season, and there is now a large amount available for shipment by the steamer which leaves on Sunday morning. Money is yet in active demand, and rates remain as previously quoted.

In answer to the question of "What will be the effect on this country of a general European war," the New York Dispatch of June 6th thus confidently comments:

"This is a question which has been repeatedly asked among business men with more or less anxiety, and the answer during the last two or three weeks. Judging from present financial and commercial and war panics, and to the light of the experience of former years, and with no unduly hopeful view of the present condition of the stock exchanges, and industry of this country, we are justified in expecting a season of prosperity in the immediate future, far more solid and advantageous than for many years heretofore. The exhaustive efforts of the final preparations and the first notes of the coming war have in two or three of the last European wars caused serious financial pressure, and the money market has been greatly excited but never before has the market felt this pressure so severely as in the present wave which has swept over the money centres of Europe. Whether there be war in Europe, or otherwise, we have experienced all of the worst effects already which such a war could produce, and have met the emergency with a promptitude and ease which will greatly assist us in the future. Our foreign trade, already so enormously large, will inevitably be greatly increased in the event of the war, while the credit of our merchants will be good for the heaviest balances they feel disposed to carry, and our home industry and manufactures will have abundant and remunerative markets for the full amount of the productions. Such will be the legitimate and direct effect of any general European war upon the trade and commerce of this country."

Under date of May 31st the Times shows that the export trade of New York City has greatly increased the past few months over the corresponding periods of 1864 and 1865. The following gives the exports (exclusive of specie) from New York to foreign ports for the week ending May 31, and since the beginning of the year:

	1864.	1865.	1866.
For the week	$2,730,642	$1,941,558	[illegible]
Previously reported	62,711,011	67,425,157	[illegible]
Since Jan. 1	$65,447,642	$69,376,091	[illegible]

The Revenues of the Treasury of the United States for the Third Quarter of the current fiscal year have been made public. They turn out $10,947,400 in excess of the budget presented by Mr. Morrill, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means on the opening of the discussion of the new Tax Bill, in Congress, on the 7th of June. When his figures were made up at the Treasury, (in April,) the whole of the Customs and other Revenues for the quarter had not been received or passed into the books of the Department. We present, together, the official figures for the three quarters, separately, and by recapitulation. The results are certainly very extraordinary as well as most gratifying:

Private letters refer in the most satisfactory manner to the project of a railroad from the Columbia river to Salt Lake City, connecting with the line of the Central Pacific Railroad Company at that point. We have now a good basis upon which to rest a calculation that Oregon will receive the benefit of overland railroad trade for some years prior to California.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, July 6th, 1866.

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, July 6th, 1866.

Rather more produce has arrived in the market during the period passing in review than ordinary, but prices do not generally favor the seller, except in a few articles, such as eggs, for instance, for which there is some demand and a scarcity of stock on the market. MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom, of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth, regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,
Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, this solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person, or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

The Old Formula

Of Ricord, Acid and Bostwick are of little use, except to dry up the disease on the surface, leaving the poison in the blood, which, sooner or later, will show itself as a secondary disease in an aggravated form. These facts I have learned by experience, and think I can say without boasting that I have seen more practice in these diseases than any other physician on this coast, dating as it does from 1849. It becomes you, then, to think well, before you employ a physician.

Who is the proper one to consult—an old experienced one or one who has recently settled amongst you?

My Plan is Purely Vegetable,

Destroying the disease and purifying the blood, so that there is no danger of secondary symptoms.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia,

And diseases arising from the use of Mercury, such as pains in the shin bones, swelling of the different joints of the body, running sores, etc., and impurities of the blood, cured in a short time by the use of my VEGETABLE MIXTURES, known only to myself.

Diseases Peculiar to Females,

Such as Retention, Painful Menstruation, etc., etc., have been my study for a great number of years, and I can safely promise a perfect cure in a short time.

Be not deterred from calling on Dr. TOZER from delicacy or a fear of exposure, as the Doctor is a man in whom you can trust, and all cases are treated with the utmost secrecy.
